Differentiate with Consistent Quality Experience

In the age of connected experience, customers, employees, and partners expect a consistent, seamless omnichannel experience. It has become critical for businesses to continuously ensure quality of experience is maintained across services, products, and interactions. However, they struggle to develop & deploy at speed, integrate and test heterogeneous ecosystem while optimizing the overall costs.

Enabling continuous enterprise testing is the need of the hour with focus on delivering speed, performance, efficiency, predictability, and compliance as key outcomes.

We typically start with maturity assessment to understand the ecosystem and recommend a roadmap for adopting continuous testing across the development lifecycle. We help implement the right Tricentis solutions and help the team manage changes and enhancements to deliver on business outcomes.

Case in Point

Accelerating and Scaling Salesforce Testing for a Global D2C Beauty Brand with eCommerce Presence in 35+ Markets.

The client was migrating to Salesforce and needed to retain integrations to legacy systems thus leading to a heterogenous testing environment.

We analyzed client's testing ecosystem and evaluated testing tools based on need for end to end automation capability. We recommended Tosca, a continuous testing platform to converge disparate tools and technologies in to a common framework and scaled up testers to SDETs.

Benefits

60-70%

Time saved using automation during the development phase

75%

Decrease in release cycle time
