

Being part of the Service Level Agreements, the purpose of the Tricentis qTest product lifecycle is to help you plan or prepare your maintenance and support requirements accordingly.

1. Release and Support Phase Definition

- (I) The Standard Support Phase lasts 18 months. It starts at the general availability date of a release and enters the next phase at the end of the Standard Support Phase.
- (II) The term for the Extended Support Phase is another 18 months. This phase starts at the end of the Standard Support Phase and enters the next phase at the end-of-life date.
- (III) The End-of-Life Phase starts at the end-of-life date.

The above-mentioned phases do not apply to any "Software as a Service" based products which provide ongoing access to the latest version, provided that your subscription is active.

2. Changes to the Product Lifecycle

Subject to the agreement, the Company reserves the right, at its discretion, to change this Product Lifecycle at any time based on prevailing market practices and the evolution of the Company's software products.

3. Product Lifecycle – Tricentis qTest

Support Option	Standard Support Phase	Extended Support Phase	End-of-Life Phase
Self-service Resources	✓	✓	✓
General Assistance	✓	✓
Critical Hotfix (bug fixes)	✓

- (i) "Self-service Resources" means access to all support services on the Support Portal (<https://www.support.tricentis.com/community/>). This includes knowledge base articles, a discussion forum, and documentation.
- (ii) "General Assistance" means the assistance of our Support Team in dealing with the Customer's incident. This includes troubleshooting, diagnosis and resolution.
- (iii) "Critical Hotfix (bug fixes)" means the release of an urgent hotfix to resolve the detrimental effects of a core software functionality issue. The urgency is determined by the number of Customers affected by the issue.